Relations of France and China.

Admiral Peng-Yn-Lin whom the Emperor of China sent to Tonquin to investigate the position of affairs there, returned to Canton on the 5th December. He has notified all foreigners that war between China and France is imminent, and has ordered the massing of all available land and sea forces for the protection of Canton. The Admiral holds France answerable for precipitating a war, and warns the neutral powers to observe their treaty stipulations and the rules of international law.

On the part of France, all available transports are being dispatched to Algerian ports, where they are to embark at least 12,000 men, with provisions for seventy days and large supplies of ammunition. The greatest activity prevails in the arsenal at Toulon.

The Yellow Book upon the Tonquin affair, which was distributed in the Chamber of Depu-Brick. Wood, Iron or Stone Construction door in workmentike manner, and at reas- ties on the 5th, contains the Chinese memorandum to Prime Minister Ferry on the 28th ultimo. It states that France had imposed upon Annam an unjust treaty, ignoring the rights of China; that France had invaded Annam and manifested an intention to take Bac-Ninh, the key of the Chinese Empire, etc.; and that China, while feeling compelled to resist aggression, appealed to the honor of France to so act as to prevent bloodshed. It also contains the note of Minister Ferry to the Marquis Tseng, suggesting that special power be entrusted to the military chiefs in Tonquin to effect an understanding by which China could surrender Bac-Ninh and Sontay peacefully to Admiral Courbet, and that subsequently a definite settlement could be negotiated. The Marquis Tseng, in replying to the latter proposition, says he regrets that France regards the occupation of Sontay and Bac-Ninh by her troops as indispensable to the settlement of the question. He also says he fails to perceive the necessity of France occupying those places, which she is aware the Chi-

> On November 30th M. Ferry declared that the ideas of the French Government had not changed during the last three years. The French policy, he said, was guided by the principles which for, ed the basis of the treaty of 1874. The Government desired the consolidation of the French pretectorate, the free navigation of the Song Koi river, and security for its commercial relations in Tonquin. The Marquis Tseng having renewed a proposal to fix the line of demarkation between the armies in the cantonments at Hanoi and at Sontay on the banks of the Red River, M. Ferry ointed out that the Marquis Tseng declared on August I that there were no Chinese troops in Tonquin, whereupon M. Challemel-Lacour, the fold. French Minister of Foreign Affairs, replied that would run the risk of being considered Annamite the situation remained unchanged by our acts. Our plan of the campaign has not been modified, and cannot be modified. It is not with us that the responsibility for a conflict will rest." The Liberte says it believes that M. Ferry's negotiations with the Marquis Tseng aim at the onclusion of a treaty on the basis of the formation of a neutral zone between China and Annam. The same paper asserts that Earl Granville, the British Foreign Secretary, has informed the Marquis Tseng that if China does not make important concessions, England will leave France complete liberty of action. There have been active negotiations between the Marquis Tseng and M. Ferry since the latter's note of November 30, Though the preparations now being pushed so vigorously seem to indicate that war is imminent and certain, the immense commercial interests of other powers in China may still induce them to use powerful arguments to dissuade the disputing powers from further offensive operations, -New York Evangelist.

Moneure D. Conway Again.

Clever men go astray like the foolish of the earth when they are in too great haste. Without time for thoughtful observation, shut out as he himself complains from the chance of making the most of the little time he had by our · Sabbath," customs, Mr. Conway nevertheless has felt himself qualified to describe and criticize Hawaii and Hawaiian affairs. We quoted some time ago a portion of his letter to a San Francisco paper. In the Glasgow Herald of Nov. 13th, we find a large part of the same matter, expressed often in the same words with a few additions. The only matter as to which this ready writer seems to have had fair opportunities of informing himself was the Christian Chinese Church and the mission work among the Chinese. His remarks on this subject we reprint below, reserving some extracts of less "I left the church of the natives in time to attend that of the Chinese. There are about 15,000 Chinese in these islands, where they are welcomed and liked. They have a joss-house here, but also the new chapel, which I found well filled. The walls were covered with inscriptions in Chinese, each headed with an English phrase, as, "Jesus the Great Saviour," "Jesus the Model Boy." The preacher, with his immobile countenance and his monotonous fluency, was oddly suggestive of an automaton, but he seemed to be telling them something pleasant. Their faces were serene as the blue sky. There was hardly a cue to be seen in the chapel. There were a number of women with babies, and beautiful little almond-eyed angels these babies were. Not a cry, not a whimper, was heard among them during all the sermon and services in the hot chapel. Afterwards I had an opportunity of seeing these infants closely, and found THE UNDERSIGND OFFER FOR SALE GOODS, AS | them extremely beautiful, and with a placidity below specified, which are just at hand from San of look-without any staring-such as I had Francisco, Portland (Or.), Reston, Manila, etc., etc.: never beheld in any countenance before. Mr Frank Damon, a young scholar who has dedicated himself to philanthropic and religious labors among the Chinese of these islands, told me that most of these women had been taken from dens of infamy, and have become happy and respected wives. I certainly never before saw a company of Chinese looking so clean and comfortable, and when I came to converse with Mr. Frank Damon I remembered the words of Confucius- "Wherever the superior man passes transformation takes place." This gentleman is a son of the veteran Dr. Damon, who has preached forty-one years in the first Christian church erected in the Sandwich Islands-the Seaman's Bethel. After graduating at Amherst College, Massachusetts, this youth travelled in the East. In China he learned the language, and resolved to do the work he is now doing. He believes that the Chinese "problem," as it is called, will be solved in these islands. The DURING MY TEMPORARY ABSENCE FROM THE Kingdom, I leave full Power of Attorney with MRS. cross between the Chinese and Hawaiian races J. K. The Hawaiian regards it as a step upward to marry the Chinese. Mr. Frank

own classics, especially the great Confucius, He can hardly fail to do great good among that people. I was glad to learn from him that the being of Buddhist-Chinese faith most cherished and reverenced in these islands and in Catifornia is Quang. She is the Chinese saint who refused to enter paradise until all the human race shall have entered before her. She is still resolutely standing outside the gates of heaven. She is the Chinese Madouna since the earliest Buddhist ages of that country, and it is touching to see her merciful and pathetic face pictured on the walls of her worshippers far away in the islands and coast of the Pacific."

The Right of a Man to Attend His Wife's Funeral-A Ludicrous Lawsuit.

A curious case, involving the right to prevent persons from attending a funeral, was recently decided in Rhode Island. The facts were, that the plaintiff's wife had been enticed away from him by the defendants, and while absent from her husband, she had died; the defendants conducting the funeral services and refusing to allow the husband to see the body or attend the funeral. Suit was thereupon brought for damages against the defendants. The Court refused to sustain the action in the following

"We find no ground, either in reason or in authority, for holding that any person has the right to enter the possessions of another, without his consent, for the purpose of attending a funeral. It is suggested that the public nature of funeral ceremonies implies a license; but such license, if one arose in this case, was revocable, and was clearly revoked by the subsequent conduct of the defendants, as set forth in Court. It is also suggested that the wrongdoing of the defendants in enticing away the wife, raises a license of which the plaintiff may avail himself under this Court; but we think that the right of the husband in this regard was at most the right to have the custody of the body of his wife, and to order the funeral ceremonies himself, in his own possessions; and that the license, if any was implied, was to enter the premises of the defeudants for the purpose of assuming such custody and removing the body for that purpose. But in this case there is no allegation of a demand for the body, or refusal to deliver the same; the only allegation being that the plaintiff was prevented from attending the ceremonies which were proceeding under the charge of the defendants."

A Saigon dispatch states that the French residents at Hue will not recognize the new Anam Government and has broken off diplomatic relations. Eight thousand officers have offered themselves for service in Tonquin. General Millet will take command of the French troops. The Senate Committee on the Tonquin Credit has presented its report. It unanimously approves the credit and considers it impossible to abandon Tonquin, declaring that retreat would destroy French prestige in the East, compromise Cochin China and dishonor France in the eyes of Europe. The committee says

France should act with vigor and rapidity. During a riot in Sheklong, (a town about sixty miles from Canton) the chapels were destroyed and many worshippers seriously injured. A native preacher was also severely hurt. A Roman Catholic priest arrived under a military escort. The Canton nihilists are causing great excitement by circulating rumors that large quantities of powder is concealed in the Roman Catholic Cathedral and they threaten to blow the edifice up. It is a splendid building, of imposing height, and has ever been an eyesore to the Chinese. Quiet has only been maintained by the presence of gunboats and of military in the city
